MEMBERSHIP OF AUSTRALIAN FORESTRY STANDARD LIMITED (AFSL)

Forestry, timber and wood products and environmental organisations, associations and government agencies (State and Federal) and individuals who have an invested interest in the Forestry Industry (herewith referred to as Stakeholders) are invited to join AFSL Stakeholder Membership Group.

AFSL Stakeholders through their membership fees provide AFSL the funding to continually develop and maintain the Australian Forestry Certification Scheme (AFCS) and its' elements. This ensures current and topical issues are addressed and reviewed in regards to the Standards and where necessary to establish Research and Development Projects and develop consultation forums of the current Standards.

The AFSL Stakeholder Membership Group provides Stakeholders with the opportunity to be involved through collaboration the ability to contribute to the direction and requirements of improving the Standards and/or developing new Standards in regards to the AFCS.

There are four membership classes in AFSL:

- Government
- Forestry and Wood Products Sector
- Employee Representative Organisations
- General

with a current membership of 26 organisations or individuals. [as at September, 2008]

The membership classes elect the Board of Directors, currently 10 Directors, with representation being:

- Government - four
- Forestry and Wood Products Sector - three
- Employee Representative Organisations - one
- General - one
- up to two Independent Additional, one of whom is the Chair of the company.

AFSL promotes and encourages stakeholder and public consultation to maintain an open and transparent process for the development and maintenance of the AFCS.

By becoming a Stakeholder Member, through your organisation you can ensure that the AFCS, aligns with industry needs and requirements, and/or address any environmental and political issues, whilst helping to maintain a credible and robust Australian Standard® through the consultation process.

Additional benefits include correspondence, newsletters, access to AFSL web blogs, AFSL help line, distributions and publications.
